CHURCH CONDITIONS IN SMALL TOWNS ARE BAD?

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—The story of an Indiana village of 261 inhabitants with 68 professed Christians and only 20 church members attempting to support their churches was related at the federal council of churches today. Of the 68 Christians in the village the forty that were not members of the three local churches were distributed among nine denominations. It was said that no young man under 21 years old was a member of any of the three churches. This case was selected as typical of church conditions in many small towns.

HARRIMAN OFFICIALS MEET IN SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 4.—The first party of Harriman officials who will hold a meeting here tomorrow arrived tonight, headed by J. A. Monroe, vice president, in charge of traffic of the Union Pacific railroad. Others from the east and northwest will arrive tomorrow morning. Mr. Monroe denied tonight the report that the meeting tomorrow was for the purpose of reorganization of the Harriman lines in compliance with the recent decision of the United States supreme court. It was admitted today, however, by minor operating officials that the preliminary work for the reorganization of the Harriman lines would be based on reports and discussions made at the gathering tomorrow.

The meeting of the operating heads of the Harriman lines here tomorrow, Mr. Monroe said, "is merely the annual gathering of traffic officials and I do not know just what will be taken up. The meeting has nothing to do with the recent decision of the United States supreme court."

Mr. Monroe would not discuss the court's decision tonight.

often drifts. Trains on almost all the railroads coming into Denver have been delayed. The precipitation here was .22, or three inches of snow.

Denver was in the center of the storm's path, which traveled in a southeasterly direction, and traveling at the rate of 30 miles an hour. Reports indicate it is comparatively narrow, not extending north of Cheyenne, Wyo., or far south of Pueblo. It passed over the western slope early today, and was clearing there tonight. At a late hour the snow was still falling here, and drifting before a changing wind.

TRINIDAD, Dec. 4.—Six inches of snow, the first this winter, fell here at midnight, and continues. The precipitation is general in northern New Mexico and southern Colorado. Sheep and cattle will suffer to some extent. Railroad traffic is not impeded thus far.

ARCHBALD WAS TO PROFIT

was partly through his influence that the deal was consummated.

The deal, as outlined by Mr. Williams, began when he went to Judge Archbald and asked his assistance in getting an option from the Hillside company. Judge Archbald, he said, gave him a letter to W. A. May, superintendent of the Hillside company, but Captain May declined to give him an option on the dump.

"I went back and told Judge Archbald I did not get it, and he said he would see about it," said Williams.

Archbald "Silent Partner."

Judge Archbald's attorneys fought against the admission of a document purporting to assign part of Mr. Williams' interest in the coal dump to William P. Boland, and a "silent party" supposed to be Judge Archbald.

A. S. Worthington, counsel for the accused, said the paper had been "prepared as a damaging piece of evidence" in the office of William P. Boland of Scranton, and that it shows part of the conspiracy against Judge Archbald and the attempt to get him into trouble.

The senate was forced to a vote, and the document was admitted as evidence. From Mr. Williams, Representative Webb finally drew the admission made last summer, in the house investigation, that he had drawn up an assignment of part of the option to Mr. Boland and Judge Archbald, naming the latter as the "silent party" because he thought it might get him into trouble if he were an open party to the deal.

and goes into detail in discussing the home plans. He dwells at length upon the scientific farming feature of the home life and especially the spirit which it hopes to engender in the community.

The increase in the value of the estate is described as follows:

"They have increased the estate by: The Broadmoor property, purchase price and improvements over $400,000; lot 28, block 139, east Denver, $42,000; additional street railway bonds purchased, $220,000; improved the Colorado Springs real estate by $38,615; added to the street railway company, additions and betterments of over $400,000; and made alterations, etc., in the Brown Palace hotel costing $18,000."

C. & S. OPERATING REVENUE FOR OCTOBER, $1,528,349

DENVER, Dec. 4.—The gross operating revenue of the Colorado and Southern railroad for October was $1,528,349, according to the official figures made public today. This is an increase of $26,034 over October, 1911. The surplus for October this year was $323,894.

SUPPLY BILL CALLS FOR APPROPRIATIONS OF $34,897,105.50

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The first big supply bill of the present session of congress, the legislative executive and judicial appropriations bill, was reported to the house today by the appropriations committee. The measure carries $34,897,105.50, a decrease of $119,027.88 from the corresponding bill in the previous session. The estimates of the secretary of the treasury, $36,514,955.50, were cut more than a million dollars by the committee.

As presented to the full committee by the subcommittee which framed it, the bill included a provision by Representative Burdick of Texas, making former presidents an annual salary of the house, with a salary of $10,000 for a full committee disapproved and it was struck out.

The commerce court is not provided for in the measure. The court asked for $54,500 for the complete year, but the committee would not allow the item. The last legislative, executive and judicial bill gave the court just enough money to continue to March 4 next year.

President-elect Wilson probably will get the regular annual allowance of $25,000 for traveling expenses.

The committee included in the bill a provision putting the clerks of the house on the house payroll and paying them direct. At present members draw $1,500 a year for clerk hire and pay their own clerks. There has been much complaint that the full amount does not go to the clerk. The bill omits all appropriations for the minute at Carson, Nev., and assay offices at Charlotte, N. C., Jones, Idaho, Helena, Mont., and Salt Lake City, Utah.

The bill will be completed on the floor at once and will be the first supply measure sent to the senate.

REFORM OF TREASURY

$42,750,455. The annual expenditures, he adds, however, may be paid under the law from bond sales. The estimated receipts for that year are $70,000,000, while the ordinary expenditures are estimated at $72,556,923 and the grand expenditures at $30,174,432. Undoubtedly having probable tariff revision in mind, the secretary announces that these estimates are based upon present conditions and laws.

Surplus for Current Year.

For the current fiscal year, ending June 30, 1913, Mr. MacVeach estimates that there will be a surplus of $40,000,000, exclusive of Panama canal expenditures, and a deficit of $1,800,000.

than $10,000,000, "distinctly an underestimate."

To show that incoming travelers are now more honestly declaring their baggage, as the result of reforms, the secretary points out that at New York alone the revenues from travelers' baggage have increased from a yearly average of $590,688 for the previous administration to about $2,100,000 in 1912. This class of frauds, he says, had been not only conspicuous, but almost defended.

Regarding the pending investigation of the board of general appraisers at New York by a commission appointed by President Taft, Secretary MacVeach says the board has drifted from its original institution as a board of customs review within the treasury department to a quasi-independence as a court outside of it. The department, he adds, needs a board of general appraisers within the department to supervise and unify the appraising work of the country.

Mr. MacVeach urges that all collectors and supervisors of customs, naval officers, appraisers and assistant appraisers, collectors of internal revenue, and all like officials of the treasury department whose appointment requires confirmation by the senate be transferred to the classified civil service. MACVEAGH AND CURRENCY —REFORM—

FOR the fact that the United States has a panic-breeding currency system, one that keeps the country at all times upon the verge of financial chaos, not the bankers themselves are to blame, but the United States government. This is the statement of Secretary MacVeagh of the treasury department, in his annual report, transmitted to congress yesterday.

With this statement of the secretary everybody will agree. There is no question that currency legislation to guarantee a more stable financial system is one of the most urgent needs of the country. But what is the remedy? This, according to the secretary:

Provision for never-failing reserves and never-failing currency, and for the perfect elasticity and flexibility of both.

A permanent organization and organized cooperation of the banks.

A central agency of the organized and cooperative banks, free from political and trust control, but with the government having adequate and intimate supervision of it.

Independent banking units, no bank to be owned or controlled in any manner by any other bank.

The equality of all banks, both state and national, both as to standards and as to functions, so that every requirement made of a national bank must be complied with equally by a state bank, and every function or privilege enjoyed by a state bank shall be enjoyed by a national bank.

The utilization and fluidity of bank assets.

The scientific development of exchanges.

Foreign banking as an adjunct of our foreign commerce.

Take the treasury department out of the banking business.

Most students will concede the necessity of these features in any proposed currency plan. Just how never-failing reserves and never-failing currency shall be secured the secretary does not point out, and it is on that point that there is greatest disagreement. Shall the banks themselves have direct charge of the nation's currency, or shall the government assume full control? That is the point on which most currency reform schemes split.

It will be agreed by all, however, that, whatever form of central association may be formed, the government must have adequate and intimate supervision of it. The currency problem is so intimately associated with the everyday life of every citizen that it cannot be permitted to be exercised by private parties without strict supervision.
But because of the great importance of the question, and because the present system is so extremely faulty, there must be immediate revision. The new Democratic administration cannot afford to neglect this problem.

WITH WHICH REORGANIZERS?

REPUBLICANS who insist that they will stick by the old party for the purpose of reorganizing it and placing it once more on its feet seem to forget that they must make choice of which group of reorganizers they will join.

On the one hand there are Barnes and Penrose and Crane and Guggenheim and Taft, who are going to "reorganize" the party along "conservative" lines, driving from out the party all those demagogic rascals who have strayed so far from the path of Aldrich and the grand old party as actually think that there are ways in which the constitution might be changed so as better to promote the welfare of the people.

Then, with a different plan of "reorganization," we have Borah and Cummings and Hadley and La Follette. These men would make the Republican party progressive. The planks that to Barnes, Penrose, et al, seem heretical to these others are orthodox doctrine.

Now it is axiomatic that the party can't be reorganized at the same time along two such widely different lines. One or the other group of reorganizers is going to have to leave the party if the other proves successful. Barnes won't remain if the party is made over to suit Cummings, and it is hard to see how Cummings can remain as long as the party, in its platform and candidates, is acceptable to Barnes.

Reorganization, it would seem, therefore, instead of building up the party, will only serve still further to disintegrate it.
Already half the rank and file have left, to join the new Progressive party. What is left of the old party is, apparently divided about equally between moderate progressives of the Cummings type and confirmed standpatters of the Barnes type.

If it proved impossible to make the Republican party progressive before the split at Chicago, how can it be done now, when most of the men who fought the progressive fight at Chicago have left the ranks?
If Barnes and his followers proved supreme when Roosevelt and Cummings, Pinchot and Hadley, Bristow and Borah, Pinchot and La Follette, were fighting together at Chicago, what hope is there for overthrew-ing the Barnes regime, now that Cummings and Hadley and Borah and La Follette have been deserted by Roosevelt and Pin-chot and Bristow and Pinchot?

"Death," says Bainbridge Colby, "is a fact, not an argument. Someone has said that the law is what is boldly proclaimed and stoutly maintained. But the grim, inimitable fact of death cannot be affirmed or denied in this spirit. Death is, not will be, may be, should be, cannot be.
The Republican party is dead."

What our Republican friends seek, therefore, is to reorganize, resuscitate, re-vivify, a corpse. It is a thankless, an impossible task. Progressive Republicans can put their talents to much better use by helping build up the new, live Progressive party.

THE SEED

SIXTY years ago a small college was founded at Constantinople. Devoted men and women gave to it money and service.
But for years it remained unnoticed, apparently a negligible factor in the swarming life of the east.

But the college had been founded by an American, and it was officered by American teachers. In its class rooms American teachings of liberty and freedom were disseminated. From its doors men and women went forth, carrying in their hearts the American spirit that had been implanted there during their years in Robert college.

And gradually, as a little leaveneth the whole lump, Robert college leavened the Ottoman empire. Bulgars, Servians, Greeks went from Robert college, determined to end Turkish misrule in Europe; determined to free their brothers from the bondage of the Turkish yoke.

Just two months ago the seed that was sown on the Bosphorus in 1863 brought forth its fruit. Rising in their might, the Balkan peoples, into whose hearts had entered the spirit of freedom, threw off the Turkish yoke. And even the concert of Europe cannot this time avail to preserve the Turkish empire as it was before the war.

Education is a slow success. It is too slow for those who are impatient of results. But, in the end, education always gains its ends. And ends reached in this way remain, are permanent, differing therein from the accomplishment that results from a sudden violent flash of anger against unsatisfactory conditions.

The Balkan peoples are entitled to all credit for the wonderful manner in which they have carried on their short war, but those Balkan leaders who are graduates of Robert college and they embrace a large percentage of the total, will not hesitate to give much of the credit to the vision of that New York merchant, Christopher R.
Robert, and to the American teachers who so splendidly used the equipment his generosity provided.

America's part in the Balkan war is one of which the nation may well be proud.

AGAINST WILSON

SENATORS Shafroth and Thomas, it is announced from Washington, will refuse to assent to any revision of the sugar schedule. Of course. Everyone knew they did not stand upon the Democratic platform. That was written only for the purpose of catching votes.

FROM OTHER PLANS

THE SOCIAL SECRETARY.
From the Kansas City Star.

What they call society in Washington is undoubtedly greatly stirred today by the announcement of the appointment of a social secretary for Mrs.
Woodrow Wilson. Four years ago when a similar announcement was made by Mrs. Taft one of the Washington newspapers asserted that the position was "second only to that of a cabinet officer." At which certain western congressmen nearly fainted.

Since Washington has become the social capital of the world it is difficult for outsiders to appreciate the homely importance that certain of the inhabitants grouped about Dupont Circle attach to the formalities of social life. Does the ambassador drop Germany take precedence over the associate justice of the supreme court? What is the relative rank of the speaker of the house and the chief justice? These are really vital questions in a portion of Washington society.

The city still remembers with horror the scandal of several years ago at the diplomatic reception when a lot of foreign ministers were admitted ahead of the justices of the supreme court. A couple of the justices, full of grievances, were sitting on the downings of the White house, and occasionally throwing pebbles at the windows, long before the president was awake the next morning.

Punctilious hostesses are compelled on occasions to send around to the state department to get the expert advice on delicate precedence questions from Mr. A. A. Ade, the second assistant secretary, who has been in the department forever and knows all about such matters. A senator's secretary complained a year or so ago that for the big dinner of the season he was compelled to rearrange the seating of the hundred guests four times to adjust the orders of precedence that were disturbed by eleven honorary acceptance and regrets.

These are aspects of Washington life that don't get into the news dispatches to any great extent.
But they are matters of life and death to the people who regard themselves as members of the smart set.
To such persons the Washington newspaper's remark understates the situation. They regard a cabinet officer as an inconsequential person compared to the social secretary of the White house.

ONE SURGICAL FAILURE, 3,000 SUCCESSES.

Nearly 3,000 operations were performed in New York this week in connection with the clinical congress of surgeons. One of them proved fatal. In contemplating this one fatality there is danger of forgetting the thousands of successful operations.
The one recorded death was due to unexpected results from an anesthetic. In a minute fraction of cases the unexpected happens. But such cases attract attention by their very rarity. The development of anesthesia and of that perfection of cleanliness known as asepsis, has made possible the saving of multitudes of lives.

Before the days of anesthesia surgery involved distress that is wretched to contemplate today. The whole object of new methods of operating, a surgeon writes, "was to shorten the period of agony which every patient had to endure. To submit to any operation required then a heroism and an endurance, which are almost incomprehensible to us now."

It is said that a famous English surgeon before an operation "told sick and dying patients that the pain he was about to inflict." The scenes of the operating room tortured even the attendants.

All this was changed by the success of an operation in 1846 at the Massachusetts General hospital when Dr. Warren painlessly removed a tumor from the neck of a man who had been put under the influence of ether by a dentist, Dr. Morton. Today the surgeon is a wonder worker, and such men as Dr. Carroll of the Rockefeller institute are performing miracles in the way of transplanting organs from one animal to another. Apparently it is only a question of time when these same feats will be carried on with human beings.

Such an event as the New York clinical congress, bringing to surgeons from every part of the country the latest surgical developments, is a wonderful humanitarian enterprise. It must add immensely to the sum of physical well-being in this country. The death of one of the subjects is one of those unfortunate occurrences that inevitably accompany the activities that make for human progress.

CURES FOR SOCIALISM.

From the New York Tribune.

The pension and sick benefit scheme devised for the employees of the Bell telephone system and allied companies is unusually generous. Pension schemes and sick benefit and insurance funds conducted by large corporations for their employees are not uncommon, but in contrast to the almost universal practice this one is to be financed entirely by the companies establishing it. Even legislation sought for the benefit of employees in this state did not go so far in its provisions.

It is to be expected that the companies will acquire a large return in good will and increased efficiency of service. Nor will the good will be confined to the employees. A great part of the unthinking, unreasoning animosity against public service corporations arises from the fact that the average man is irritated or angry because of their sheer size and unhumanity. The "soulless corporation" which is fined when it breaks the law seems to him to be above the law. But no corporation, however big, will be half so likely to appear soulless or unhuman when it makes so generous a plan for its faithful employees and their dependents. Such a course is a detergent of government ownership ideas and socialism.

On Mysterious Disappearances

By RUTH CAMERON.

Some months ago, during the moving of some furniture, I lost sight of a little pearl pin.
I was sure I had it on the morning the moving was done, and had the impression that I took it off and put it on the pin cushion when I was changing my dress that forenoon. I knew I had not worn it out of the house and yet I could not find it anywhere. Our maid was "honest beyond the peradventure of a doubt, so after waiting some months for the pin to turn up, I said to myself —praises be that I didn't say it to anyone else. "I suppose the maid I had in mind to do the moving must have stolen that pin, and he looked so honest! Well, you never can tell."

Yesterday, on opening a book which had lain upon my desk the day of the moving, I found the pearl pin between the pages. It had evidently fallen from my pin cushion into which I had thrust it rather hastily in the haste and confusion of moving day.

And then, of course, I was very much ashamed of my suspicions and felt as if I ought to go and apologize to the moving man except that I wouldn't dare tell him for what I was apologizing.
Do mysterious disappearances like that sometimes happen to you?

And afterwards do you usually have reason to be sorry for any unkind suspicions you have entertained? I fancy so for that is the experience of almost all of us.

As I look back I can see that I have very seldom been suspicious of anyone in this way without having had reason to regret my suspicion.

If it is a choice between accounting for a loss by the dishonesty of some person who, according to all other appearances, is honest, or by the cus-dom of inanimate objects that have a mysterious way of taking to themselves things, isn't it infinitely better to take the latter alternative?

For in the first place, it is really the more likely explanation; in the second place it is infinitely kinder.

If we grow older successfully—that is if we mellow instead of growing sour—I think we are likely to have more and more faith in human nature, and to learn to give the benefit of the doubt in all such matters.

But, however, we explain such happenings to ourselves, there is one thing we can be square enough to do, and that is not to pass on our suspicions to other folks until they are no longer merely suspicions.

The law takes a man innocent until he is proven guilty. Society ought to be as kind. And remember that proven guilty means something pretty definite.

PONDEROUS PERSONAGES

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Marlin Van Buren was born December 5, 1851, and became a politician shortly afterwards. As this would indicate, he was a New Yorker. He came from old Dutch stock and was distinguished by the firm and uncon-promising manner in which he made up his mind with blue and steel rivets on all questions.

Van Buren set out for the presidency at an early age and advanced step by step from the state senate and state attorney generalship to the United States senate, the governorship of New York, the secretaryship of state, and the vice presidency. In those days vice

"This panic burst soon after Van Buren took office."

presidents were chosen for their mental dimensions and after Van Buren had held firmly to his seat during Jackson's cyclonic last term he was elected president.

This is a sad joke on Van Buren, because Jackson had spent his last four years compiling and arranging the greatest pande the young country had had. This panic burst soon after Van Buren took office, and he spent four worried and painful years hustling for money to pay for stove coal for the national Capitol and shoostrings for the army. He wrestled with a voracious deficit for four years in a statesmanlike manner, and as a reward the people voted him out of office with great enthusiasm in 1845.

Upon his defeat Van Buren returned home and continued to run for the presidency with great energy and persistence, being always on the unpopular side of every question. He lost the nomination in 1848 because he opposed the admission of Texas, thus making all the Democrats mad. In 1848 he left the Democratic party and ran for president on the Free Soil party, arriving a little farther in the rear than President Taft did last November. He had been less stubborn in early life and would have had less trouble and would have been enabled to live comfortably in obscurity instead of permanently in the encyclopedia and histories.

Van Buren was an unpopular and as able as most earnest men are. He was noted for his extreme and inopportune stubbornness. He nearly lost the presidency by opposing an interference with slavery and later on was defeated while leading the Free Soilers. If he had been less stubborn in early life he would have had less trouble and
would have been enabled to live comfortably in obscurity instead of perma-
tories.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Small troubles threaten you, and your patience will be sorely tried.
While thus annoyed, you will not be able to give your best judgment to new enterprises or changes. A slow but steady course is best.

Those born today will be of roving disposition. This can never be wholly changed, but while very young, they should be patiently taught the traits which will make the journey a source of advancement and prosperity, rather than aimless.

COUNCIL MAY PERMIT CONCERTS ON SUNDAY

A request by the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra for permission to give a concert at the Burns theater some Sunday next April, and to charge admission for the same, has started a lively little discussion in the city council. City Attorney McKesson advised the council that the only way the council could be given would be by repealing or amending the present Sunday ordinance. He also called attention to the fact that the Colorado Springs Musical Club is anxious to give Sunday afternoon orchestra concerts, in which club members would participate. Mayor Avery expressed the opinion that such concerts have a beneficial influence, but said that the council could not discriminate against other amusement promoters.
The request was referred to a committee of the whole.

Dr. Wm. Sadler, author of "The Cause and Cure of Colds," says that common colds should be taken seriously, especially when they hang on. Dr.
Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable household medicine for coughs and colds, equally effective for children and for grown persons. Take it when you feel a cold coming on. It will avert danger of serious results and cure quickly. Mrs. N. C. Young, Pes-tah, Ga., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cleared my throat and cured my cold." (Adv.)

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY. TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

DECEMBER 5, 1882.
Prof. R. L. Miller, principal of the public schools, reported that for the month ending November 23, 1882, the total attendance was 648.

The Athletic association had been given the right to use the city water for a skating rink on their grounds on North Weber street.

B. F. Crowell won a portrait of President Garfield by Charles Craig that had been put up for a raffle at Sagendorff's drug store.

The weather man missed his guess, and the big storm predicted did not arrive.

DECEMBER 5, 1892.
J. F. Jackson, county superintendent of schools, issued his annual report.
It showed 120 pupils enrolled in the high school; 2,100 in the graded schools, and 1,147 in the ungraded schools.

E. E. Martin of this city received a ticket to Washington and return as a prize in an election guessing contest conducted by a Denver paper.

The citizens of Cripple Creek, which was then in El Paso county, held a mass meeting to discuss the means of forming a new county of which Cripple Creek should be the county seat.
This resulted ultimately in the formation of Teller county.

THE HASKIN LETTER THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The great assembly of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America now in session in Chicago is in many ways the most important religious gathering ever held in this country. Its 500 delegates officially represent no less than 32 religious denominations of this country. This council grew out of the inter-church conference held in New York in 1905 when definite steps were taken toward effecting an organization which would federate all of the churches of the nation. Between the years 1906 and 1908, a plan was submitted to and approved by 32 denominational bodies and the first meeting of the federal council was held in Philadelphia in December of 1908. At this time, the full organization was completed, the officers elected and a working plan agreed upon. The council holds its general meetings or assemblies every fourth year. Between these the activities are in charge of a subsidiary committee of 60, which has a subcommittee for the management of the business of the council. The executive committees hold regular annual meetings and special meetings as often as is necessary.

The objects of the federal council are to bring about a public recognition of the fact that the greatest religious denominations are constitutionally federated, to organize and promote state and local federations, to secure coordination of church and mission work, both in church and in the world, to encourage the churches to do their best, each for all and all for a Christian America, and to forward the federative idea among the churches of the world. More than 150-000 churches are included in the membership of the council which is composed of state, city and town and county and district federations. In it are also represented several partial or tentative federations such as the Federation of Men's clubs, the continuation of Men's clubs, and religious committees of the men, and religion forward movement, interdenominational social service committees and similar organizations for religious work outside of the churches themselves. The Ministerial associations may also be included as they exist in most towns and are generally active in the organizations of the federations.

One of the most important departments of the council work is the social service which is being accomplished so much more effectively through cooperation. The secretarial cabinet for this department includes representatives of the Congregational, Baptist, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Methodist churches. One of the plans of the office has been carried out in many of the cities, the selection of Labor Sunday is given to matters affecting the comfort and welfare of the wage earners who compose so large a proportion of the church membership. The federal council has unanimously adopted three specific principles for which it asserts the Christian church must stand.
These are: First, the gradual reduction of the hours of labor to a degree of practicability, and that degree of reduction which is a condition of the highest human life; second, a release from employment one day in seven; third, a living wage as a minimum in every industry and the highest wage that each industry can afford.

While it is argued that the normal one day of rest in seven should be the Christian Sabbath or the Lord's day, it is recognized that there are conditions of industry that require the continuance of work each day in the week and in consequence the employment of some workers upon the Lord's day. In such cases, the council insists that it is the positive duty of every Christian employer to arrange for seven days employment upon the day which should be given to the rest and recreation of mind and body so essential to health and happiness. It is the obligation of every Christian employer in any line of industry to so arrange his scale of daily compensation that the living wage of his employee is calculated upon a six-day and not a seven-day basis.

The social surveys, which were made under the direction of the men and religion forward movement, have revealed many conditions in most cities which it is the duty of the churches to fight. It is little use to ask a man working 12 hours a day for seven days in the week to quit the saloon at night and come to church. For most of them there is little pleasure left excepting the false joy of the day shift. The church must set itself actively to work to secure for him more reasonable hours for work and then it can approach him with some hope of success. In a survey made in a town where the steel industry prevails it was found that 25 per cent of the employees, or about 14-000 men, were working 12 hours a day and seven days in a week. Fully 60 per cent of these workers were classed as unskilled and were paid at the rate of 16 1/2 cents an hour. Therefore, if working for 12 hours, such men were earning less than $2.00 a day regularly, while any reduction in time meant a proportionate reduction in wages.

The high wages paid to a relatively small number of men who earn four or five dollars a day naturally blind the eyes of the public, say the church workers, especially when reports are given showing the average wages earned by the men. The investigation of the survey showed that in the locations where the low paid workers lived the drink evil was worse and the general morality at its lowest. Therefore, in advocating a living wage and reasonable hours of labor the Federal Council of Churches is now making its most practical appeal to those who are compelled to toll to support themselves and their families.

Under the social service committee, the council is also actively at work in developing plans to extend the usefulness of the rural church and thus make it a more practical help to the community. This is accomplished generally by a union of efforts. Instead of trying to maintain several poorly supported churches it is better to have one in which all denominations can participate. The increase of friendships

THE DAY'S NEWS IN SPORT CIRCLES

McGoorty Gets Decision in Fight With Mike Gibbons

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Eddie McGoorty, of Ashkosh, Wis., outpointed Mike Gibbons, of St. Paul, in every round of a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The fight was a disappointment to many. Gibbons' followers expected to see a much better fight, while the McGoorty adherents looked for their man to score a knockout.

Both men were clever. Gibbons put together with a remarkable exhibition of defensive work. He was so evasive that McGoorty could not get in his deadly left, although he punished Gibbons almost continuously with short arm jabs and straight punches. Gibbons' blocking of those was perfect.

He led off with a right and left to the neck, but McGoorty returned a hard left to body. The St. Paul man ducked a straight left, but took a left hook, and McGoorty was forcing him with lefts to face and body at the bell.

During the second round, Gibbons seemed frightened, but managed to put a left to the chin and two straight lefts to face. McGoorty followed with lefts and right to the head, left uppercut to the face, a hard right to the body and a hard left to the jaw at the bell.

Gibbons jammed his left to the face three times in the third round but McGoorty was the more effective with body blows at close quarters. Gibbons

WEST COAST WILL BUILD YACHT TO BEAT LIPTON

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars will be raised in San Francisco by the syndicate organized to finance the construction of a yacht to contest in 1913 against the Shamrock to be sent to this country by Sir Thomas Lipton, according to the announcement made by Thomas L. McCall, who heads the syndicate. Captain Frank Stone, a yachtsman, and shipbuilder of San Francisco, will sail the craft, and his yard will build it.

The vessel will be of the 22 meter class. It will be 120 feet over all, 75 feet on the water line, 22 feet beam and 2 feet draft. It will be sloped and in most respects similar to the Shamrock, which, however, is 90 feet on the water line.

Captain Stone will go east to obtain data and to observe the construction of this class, which is an innovation on this coast.

HOPPE BEATS YAMADA

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—While Hoppe, the 182 pounder, defeated Yamada, who won his second game in the tournament here tonight when he defeated Koshi Yamada, the Japanese champion, 10 to 2.

Hoppe had a high run of 475 and his average was 14.07. Yamada's high run was 111 and his average 28.42.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF ANY CHRONIC ULCER

Any sore that is obstinate or slow in healing should cause suspicion and put the sufferer on guard. Many an ulcer which could have been cured, if it had been properly treated, in time, has been allowed to remain open until it became infected with some degenerate poison from the outside which made it a malignant, eating sore. Most old sores come from an impure and polluted condition of the blood and can be healed if the circulation is cleansed and purified of the predisposing cause. To attempt to cure a chronic ulcer with salves, washes, lotions, etc., is trifling with what may become a serious condition. S. S. S. heals chronic ulcers in a perfectly natural way. It goes down into the blood and removes the impurities and morbid matters which are the means of keeping the place open; then the sore is bound to heal. Not only does S. S. S. cleanse the circulation but it restores its healing powers, and aids in promoting the necessary qualities for good health. S. S. S. builds new flesh tissue from the bottom of the ulcer to the outer skin and makes a permanent cure. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free to all who write and request same.

STAGE MONEY WELL EARNED SAYS JONES

Stage money is not as easy as it might seem, according to Tom Jones, Mollusk's manager. Jones has had a deal of experience in that line and objects to it being referred to as "soft money."

"The only way to get a higher rate of money is to fight for it," says Jones. "I venture to say that Kitchie will not make more than $1,000 a week for the time he is before the footlights, and when you deduct hotel bills, sparring partner expenses and incidentals, there is not a great deal left. During the three years that Volgaist on the stage, he put in but 18 weeks on the stage. When he first won the championship he was on the road nine weeks, and when he was recovering from the operation he was seven weeks in yards. We did not make much, and decided to cut it out. We fought for our money and earned close to $240,000."

According to Jones, the following was some of the big money earned by Volgaist in the ring, not to mention the business:

February, 1911 K. O. Brown in Philadelphia	$ 5,360
March K. O. Brown in New York	9,647
March George Mande in Los Angeles	9,294
March Anton La Grava in San Francisco	7,590
April O. R. Hogan in New York	9,000
May-Frankie Burke in San Francisco	7,500
July-Owen Moran in San Francisco	5,616
May, 1912 Willie Ritchie in San Francisco	2,800
May-Fred Daniels in St. Joe, Mo.	1,500
June Young Children in Philadelphia	6,900
July-Joe Rivers in Los Angeles	21,195
July-Two bouts, Grand Rapids, Mich.	1,350
August-Ted Maloney in Philadelphia	6,500
November-Joe Mandot in New Orleans	10,000
November-Willie Ritchie in San Francisco	13,000

"All told, Volgaist has made over $100,000 in purses during the last three years."

ENGLISH CRACKS PLAN INVASION OF AMERICA

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Although nothing positive has as yet been arranged, it is reasonable to predict that the year 1913 will be the most important ever in the line of international golf. From time to time rumors of foreign invasions have been heard and not long since Jack McDermott, the open champion of the United States, declared his intention to try again next year along with a number of other prominent "pros." Another report in which Tom much, a referee cannot be placed at present is to the effect that America may shortly be invaded by three of Great Britain's most prominent professionals—Harry Vardon, Edward Ray, the champion, and George Duncan.

Not long since Ray wrote a letter to a friend in this country to the effect that he had such a visit in mind and that he had hopes of inducing Vardon, and possibly Duncan, to go as well. Whether Ray and Vardon come over is of course impossible to say, but there is no doubt that Duncan is contemplating another American tour. In fact, he has asked Jack Jolly, who travels in the interests of the trade, to look after him over here. Jolly sailed for Scotland the other day and before leaving he admitted that he might enter into some arrangement with Duncan. The last named was here a little more than a year ago and took part in more than 20 exhibition matches on courses throughout the east and west.

When Vardon was here in 1900 he was holder of the British title and devotees of the game in this country were keen to see him play. Consequently,

BILLY PAPKE BEATS 'LAST HOPE' IN PARIS

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Billy Papke, the American fighter, tonight defeated George Bernard, a French middleweight, for the much-sought "last hope" of a big one and in a very big, especially designed for the occasion.

The fight was arranged for the seventh round, when the Frenchman was unable to appear for the call of time. Bernard, who was known as "The Frenchman," was known as "The Frenchman" and was known as "The Frenchman."

O. H. SHOLE WINS SUIT

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The case of "Anna Ax-Me," a mare which won several big racing races last season, was decided by the board of review of the National Training association, tonight, in favor of the owner, O. H. Shole, a Colorado ranchman.

Shole was charged by five other horsemen with having entered Anna Ax-Me in the 2-year-old racing class, while it was alleged that the horse was nearly a year old. Attorneys for the ranchman and for L. C. Kenney of Hastings, Neb., chief complainant, held the attention of a large crowd of horsemen in their arguments as to Anna Ax-Me's age. Affidavits of several veterinary surgeons, to the effect that Anna Ax-Me was more than 3 years old, were presented, while Shole introduced affidavits by members of his family that Anna Ax-Me was the 1909 foal of "Roxanna."

The board declined to dismiss the case, which leaves Shole in a position to collect about $6,000 which the mare won in the Detroit and Kentucky tournaments, but which was withheld under protest.

BALL PLAYERS UNION WANTS MORE PAY DAYS

The ball players are preparing a few demands they will submit to the club owners when the latter arrive in New York for their annual meetings next month. With practically every association, the club owners will have to give these demands serious consideration.

Money, which is the cause of all quarrels between players and club owners is the bone of contention this time. The men want to be paid for all the time they are under the direction of the club's manager. They want six months' pay for six months' work, and if it is necessary to report away for even four weeks before the actual season opens they want to be paid for the extra time.

What the player wants is a regular pay day during the time he is practicing in the south or wherever the club may go to prepare for the pennant fights.

The player never receives any pay until the season opens. True, he lives well and has all expenses paid while training, but many of them are compelled to abandon business for these training sessions and they want to be paid for this loss.

The club owners will fight hard against these demands. A training trip is a dead loss to a club. The few exhibitions played do not bring in enough money to pay one jump during the trip. The players do not ask for the same salary they receive during the playing season. But they believe that each man should receive so much each week so that the people at home can be taken care of.

"PACKY" BEATS TOREY

DAYTON, O., Dec. 4.—In a one-sided affair here tonight Packy McFarland, of Chicago, so far outclassed Batting Torey of Pittsburgh that he was awarded the decision and the fight stopped in the fifth round of what was scheduled as an eight-round contest, to save Torey from a knockout.

NEW-TIGER FLINGER

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—The Detroit club today purchased Herman Nichols from Wyandotte, Mich. Nichols, who formerly pitched in the South Michigan league, achieved considerable prominence by defeating Mullin and Dubue, two of Detroit's best pitchers, and Blandine of the Cleveland Americans, in exhibition games, last October.

CUBS DREW MOST PASSES

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Among National league clubs, Chicago profited most by lack of control of opposing pitchers during the 1912 season, according to the official records of bases on balls and strikeouts issued at National league headquarters. The Chicago team received 560 bases on balls, an average of 3.68 per game. Cincinnati had the least number of strikeouts—432—an average of 3.17 per game. New York finished second in both items, receiving 511 passes and having 197 strikeouts.

WHITE SOX TO TRAIN ON CHANCE'S RANCH

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Tradition, baseball history and all other kinds of former stories are to be upset by President Comiskey and his band of White Sox training campers during their spring training. Frank Chance, the team manager, will ask the coach of the team, and his associates and interested parties, to spend the winter on Chance's ranch in California.

While the idea to train on Chance's ranch will not constitute all of the White Sox spring training, the outfit will spend enough time on the Chance ranch to become intimately acquainted with their coach and with the coach's baseball affairs.

President Comiskey has turned down the offer of Riverside, Cal., to entertain his team for their spring training. Base Robles was Comiskey's first choice, and he will stick to his decision. The visit of Dr. W. W. Robles to Chicago for the purpose of getting the Sox to train at Riverside came too late, and the best Riverside can hope for is an exhibition game.

"We will go to Base Robles," said the old manager. "I decided on that place and there is where we will do our training. But as soon as we get the alkali off our uniforms we are going out to Glendora to visit Frank Chance. Frank can put on one of our uniforms or wear one of his own, but he will work out with us just the same."

"I do not know how long we will spend at Glendora, but as soon as we leave there Chance and Mrs. Chance are to go to Los Angeles to be our guests. I don't think Harry Hermon will object to us admiring together away out there."

M'ALEER READY TO BUY OR TRADE BALL PLAYERS

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—President James M. McAlleer of the Boston American league was asked today if he had any trades in view. He said:

"I am ready for a trade or purchase any time where I can see a chance to strengthen the team by making a change, but we have a good team as it stands, and if anybody has better men, you may safely bet that he is going to hang on to them."

When asked about the talk prevalent some time ago that Buck O'Brien was to be sold or traded to the Chicago White Sox, President McAlleer said there was no foundation for the report and that it was in line with the canon that went the round a year ago to the effect that he contemplated the selling or trading of Tris Speaker.

Judging by what he said, McAlleer believes that Buck is one of the greatest pitchers of the league.

Miners Won From Whittier, 34 to 7

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—The Whittier college football team lost to the Colorado School of Mines today, 34 to 7. Whittier scored its first touchdown after five minutes of play, by means of a forward pass, and Chambers kicked goal. Whittier never had a chance after that, as the heavier Coloradoans played them off their feet.

The total American yield of diamonds, emeralds, sapphires and other precious stones in 1911 amounted to only $343,592. Most American diamonds come from Arkansas and California.

Abe Attell's Ring Career One of Unusual Brilliancy

Abe Attell's ring career was one of unusual brilliancy. He was forced to enter the boxing ring for the first time in his life when he was 17 years old. He was a natural fighter and he was a natural winner. He was a natural champion and he was a natural champion.

He was a natural fighter and he was a natural winner. He was a natural champion and he was a natural champion. He was a natural fighter and he was a natural winner. He was a natural champion and he was a natural champion.

ABE ATTELL, RETIRED.

ending of a career. It was a grand exhibition, though in the last period the movements of the brawler was noticeably slower than in the previous rounds.

The bell changed for the boys in the sixth round. The sleek boxer left his corner. Instead of taking his antagonist, he slowly walked to the ropes. He raised his hand and silence fell over the arena.

"Gentlemen," he said, with a smile on his face, "I'm all through. I've given you the best I could and am 'all in.' I retire now."

There was no wild yelling or cheering. The crowd realized that it had witnessed a tragedy. For the youth who sang his own swan song was none other than Abe Attell, one of the greatest boxers that ever lived. He fought out his career in 11 years.

End of Champion's Career.

It was a sad end to the career of a champion. In 1901 he had won the title of champion of the world. He had won the title of champion of the world. He had won the title of champion of the world.

He had won the title of champion of the world. He had won the title of champion of the world. He had won the title of champion of the world. He had won the title of champion of the world.

"I Feel Like a New Man."

Max Reed, of Fort Worth, Tex., writes: "I have been a great sufferer for years from catarrh of the bladder, and I have tried every remedy I could get my hands on, but I have not been able to get any relief. I have been told that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would cure me, and I have tried it, and I feel like a new man. I have been able to do my work and I feel like a new man. I have been able to do my work and I feel like a new man."

Thad Straub, Mayor
Hamilton, Ohio, Nov. 22, 1912.
Indian River Farms Co., Chicago, Ill.

It is a pleasure for me to state that I am well acquainted with land which your company has come in possession of in St. Lucie County, lying north-west of Ft. Pierce.

I have been a regular visitor for the past fifteen years and have seen this country develop into what I believe is the best productive section of Florida. This land produces citrus fruit of the richest variety, and vegetables when most profitable in the markets.

I purchased a tract of land in your neighborhood about nine years ago, and have since cultivated a portion of same by placing out grape fruit and orange trees and with but little expense have succeeded in having a grove which is bringing me a satisfactory yearly profit, and can recommend your land to all prospective purchasers. Respectfully yours,

THAD STRAUB,

Mayor.

Holly G. Armstrong is the General Sales Agent for the Indian River Farms Company for this Western Territory, with offices at Suite 50, First National Bank Building. An excursion will be run from this city, leaving on the 16th, on which quite a number from here and other points are going to Florida to investigate this property and we have room for quite a number more. We will be glad to give any information relative to this property and excursion to those who may be interested. Phone 2308.
